n order to further the study of insurance and encourage, support, and reward those exceptional students who have an interest in an insurance career, a number of scholarships have been established by the Derek Hughes/NAPSLO Educational Foundation. Many of the scholarships were established to recognize contributions made by industry leaders, such as Rolland L. Wieggers, Herbert W. Kaufman, and Kevin McLaughlin.

Each year the Foundation awards more than ten scholarships in the amount of $2,000 each. One scholarship is reserved each year for a student nominated by the National Association of Professional Surplus Lines Offices (NAPSLO).

To be eligible for this scholarship, students must:

- Be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in an undergraduate or postgraduate degree program, majoring in Actuarial Science, Business, Economics, Insurance, Finance, Management, Risk Management, or Statistics. Majors must be related to a career in insurance.
- Have and maintain a GPA of 3.0 or above; entering freshmen must rank in the top 25% of their high school class or have a GPA of 3.0 or better.

- Complete and submit the scholarship application form, including a personal statement of career objectives, academic accomplishments, and pertinent extracurricular activities, as well as reasons for applying for this scholarship. Incomplete applications will not be considered.
- Have two letters of recommendation submitted from the following sources: academic advisor, counselor or teacher/professor, employer, or insurance professional.
- Have an official academic transcript forwarded to the Scholarship Committee.
- Financial need and student's area of study relating to a career in insurance will be considered in the awarding of scholarships.

Previous recipients of this scholarship are eligible to receive it in subsequent years, but must reapply each year. The application deadline is June 1.

Scholarship winners will be notified by mail and scholarship funds awarded will be forwarded to the student's school for distribution.
